Saskatoon Public Schools

Phil Hogg visited at the beginning of June and shared that he and his friend Doug designed the mural at the side of the school when it first opened. The grade 10 art class was challenged with the task of coming up with a design that would show what was important to the students and teachers attending this new school. Phil and Doug were fortunate enough to have their design picked. The pictures show Phil and Doug back in 1964 and when he visited last week.

Gold Medal: Congratulations to Joti Gokaraju, a Walter Murray Grade 11 SAGE student, for winning the Gold medal, as well as many top engineering and innovation awards at the Canadian National Science Fair in Ottawa earlier this month. Joti won many scholarships and honors for his invention of an interface mechanism, which combined with a newly developed app, allows deaf/blind people to communicate with non deaf/blind people. We wish Joti luck as he moves forward with his design and his application to the International Science Fair later this year.

Math: Robert Yang wrote the Sir Isaac Newton (S.I.N) contest earlier this year and placed 45th in the world (3077 papers being written). The S.I.N. is produced by Waterloo University and is quite prestigious.

Robert has also placed very highly in mathematics contests.

DEBATE: Lucas Le and Will Shevkenek were semi-finalists at the Senior National Debate Championship this May. This means they are among the top high school debaters in Canada this year. Lucas Le also attended the Team Canada Debate Tryouts this May and has been invited to join Team Canada, a prestigious elite team of around ten Canadian students who compete internationally.

TEDx: Walter Murray Collegiate is excited to say that our annual TEDx event, TEDxYouth@WalterMurrayCollegiate was successfully organized on April 27th! 6 world changing speakers spoke on Harmony in Diversity: Navigating Tomorrow's Tapestry, including national level debaters, individuals representing youth on the city council and even an Amazon-bestselling author from British Columbia! This event was organized by 27 passionate high school students with individuals from Walter Murray, Evan Hardy and Aden Bowman, and official TEDx videos have been released on YouTube. Please check out the team's website, tedxyouthwmc.wordpress.com for more information to get to the videos! Their Executive Organizer Nini Li (Grade 12), who is graduating this year, is incredibly proud to be passing on her position to the current Executive Producer, Caleb Waldschmidt (Grade 10) in the next school year. We look forward to what TEDxYouth@WalterMurrayCollegiate can bring in the following years!

Nationals: Amy Jorgensen will be in Gatineau, Quebec for the 8th time competing for Nationals/Olympic Trials.

Marian Gymnastics posted: We are very proud for her outstanding performances this past week! In a huge field of excellent gymnasts, she finished 13th— an amazing achievement.

She also competed in the following competitions:

- ♦ 2024 Elite Canada , 7th
- ♦ 2024 International Gymnix challenge winner in Montreal
- ♦ Competed internationally at the World Challenge Cup in Antalya, Turkey
- ♦ Competed at Pacific Rim Championships in Cali, Colombia where she finished with a silver medal on beam and Canada winning the silver team medal
